WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1744.

Extract of a Private Letter.

Warsaw, June 3, 1744.

'YEsterday the King and Queen 'arriv'd in this Capital, ac- 'companied by the Count 'de Bruhl, Privy-Counsellor, 'and First Minister; and this 'happy Arrival of their Maje- 'sty's was made known to 'the whole Town by repeated 'Discharges of the Cannon 'from the Ramparts. The Ministers, the Foreign Ministers, and all the Nobility and Persons of Distinction that were here, went immediately to Court, to pay their Duties to their Majesties, and to compliment them on their happy Arrival. It is now five Years ago since his Majesty honoured his Royal Dominions with his Presence; and in this Interval, so many Affairs of Importance have been postpon'd, that we have the greatest Reason to believe his Majesty must continue for some considerable Time amongst us, in order to their being adjusted. The Foreign Ministers, the Deputies from Dantzick, and those from the Protestants of all Denominations in this Kingdom, are preparing to set out for Grodno, in order to negotiate there the Concerns of their respective Principals. It is believed, that the Affair of the Duchy of Courland will be brought upon the Carpet, and an End absolutely put to the Contentions which have reigned so long in that Country, for want of being govern'd according to its legal Constitution. We likewise apprehend, that the Augmentation of the Crown Army will be another Point recommend'd to the Wisdom of the Dyet, in order to put the Republick into such a State of Defence as may render her respected by her Neighbours. But the great Affair of all, and which is indeed the greatest Affair that has been brought before a Polish Dyet for many Years, is the renewing the ancient Alliance between the Republick and the House of Austria; into which, her Imperial Majesty of Russia is also to be admitted.

'It is believed, that this Alliance will be the Foundation of a League that will totally change the Face of Affairs in Europe, and effectually secure its principal Potentates from the Effects of those dangerous Intrigues, that have for many Years been carrying on to perplex and embroil them. It is with this View, that the Count de Esterhasi, Minister from the Queen of Hungary to the Court of Dresden, made a Tour from thence to Vienna, in order to receive the last Instructions from his Court, before he came hither. We are assured, that the Court of Moscow hath already taken Part extremely favourable to this new System; the Queen having resolved to furnish his Britannick Majesty with a Corpse of 10,000 Auxiliaries, which are to act in Germany; and to grant her Majesty of Hungary a large Subsidy in Ready Money. It is whispered here, that this has been brought about chiefly by the late Discoveries made by a certain Foreign Minister, during his Stay at Petersbourg, before he proceeded to Moscow; where he found Means to unravel the Schemes of a certain enterprizing Genius, and even to get into his Hands original Dispatches of the utmost Importance, by causing them to be stopt at Hamburgh, in their Passage to the Court for which they were designed. It is also said, that the Affair of the Marquis d'Botta has produced very new and singular Lights, with Respect to the Concerns of both Courts; and that it clearly appears, the Court of Vienna had no Hand in his Intrigues. These are Things of too nice and delicate a Nature for private People to attempt any Explanation; but we are credibly informed, that the Publick will shortly receive a full and authentick Account of them in a Manifesto, which is to be published by the Court of Vienna, with original Letters and Papers annex'd.

'The long-disputed Succession of the House of Radzivil, which has involv'd the Elector Palatine and the Princes of the before-mentioned Family in so many Disputes, is at last determined by the definitive Sentence of the Tribunal of Christbourg, which has adjudged all the Lands, Castles, and Estates of the Family to Prince Jerom Radzivil, provided he pays, within a limited Time, a certain Sum of Money to the Elector Palatine, in Consideration of his Pretensions.

From the Camp of Berlagem, July 6. We have just received Advice from Ghent, that Major-General Reade, with Lieutenant-General Barrell's, Col. Cholmondeley's, and Co'onel Fleming's Regiments of Foot, were safe arrived there; and that Colonel Lord Harry Beauclerk's Regiment was left at Ostend to reinforce that Garrison.

The Princely beautifying LOTION.

Whoſe INIMITABLE VIRTUES and TRANSCENDENT EXCELLENCIES have gained it ſo much Reputation, that envious Imitators endeavour, tho' in vain, to counterfeit it.

It beautifies the Face, Neck, and Hands to the utmoſt Perfection, and is in the greateſt Eſteem amongſt Ladies, &c. of the firſt Quality. No Words can ſufficiently expreſs its Virtues; for it is not of the Nature of Paint, which puts a falſe and unnatural Gloſs on the Skin; but is a Remedy that, by its Uſe, really gives a Luſtre to the moſt Beautiful, by adding the fine Features of the Face, and is ſo ſafe, not having the leaſt Grain of Mercury in it, that it may be taken inwards, and if ſmelled to, is really good againſt Vapours.

It infallibly kill Worms in the Face, takes away Freckles, Spots, Wrinkles, Pits, or Marks of the Small-Pox, and abſolutely cures any Defects in the Face, giving a charming Luſtre and fine Air to the Features, to Admiration.

As for ſuch Perſons as are of a ſwarthy Complexion, or troubled with any diſagreeable Redneſs, Roughneſs, Morphew, Heats, or the like, it is not to be paralleled; for it immediately ſmooths, clears, plumps, nouriſhes, and whitens the Skin to the laſt Degree, and makes thoſe Perſons who before look haggard and old, to look young, beautiful, and fair; and, in ſhort, it far exceeds any thing that was ever yet known made publick, for clearing and beautifying the Skin.

It will keep good twice Seven Years, well cork'd, in any Part of the World.

Good Allowance is given by the Dozen to ſell again.
